

PSYCHIATRY AND WAR

- WHO WILL PROFIT?

Behind the military strategists who decide upon war is the "Political Psychological Division" of the CIA. The CIA employs a battery of "specialist" psychiatrists and psychologists to evaluate the behaviour of world leaders and especially terrorists. Reports, whether verified or not, are collected by CIA operatives around the world and channelled into a computer in Washington. A team of psychiatric and psychological "specialists" evaluate and make diagnoses of the world leaders on these flimsy reports which then go to the military.

According to author Gordon Thomas in "Journey into Madness — Medical Torture and the Mind Controllers", US psychiatrists such as Dr Jerrold Post, head of the "Political Psychological Division", evaluated reports such as the following about Colonel Muammar al-Qaddafi that said that in the privacy of his tent, "Qaddafi liked to put on Max Factor Make-up and Gucci high-heels and cuddle a teddy bear. Dr Post suggested that Qaddafi was a transvestite-type personality and highly unpredictable."

Apparently then President Ronald Reagan told the CIA's Director, Casey, "If it helps make that looney-tune even crazier so that his people will kick him out, Qaddafi can take a peek in Nancy's closet anytime."

FIGHTER PILOTS ON SPEED

With such psychiatric infiltration of the military it is not surprising that fighter pilots in the US are routinely prescribed dangerous amphetamines for long distance overseas flights to handle problems of sleep deprivation on solo missions. This was confirmed in 1988 by an officer of the Air Force Surgeon General in the US, Donna Ragan. She said, "In some cases, amphetamines are the only way they can stay awake". The practice has been labelled by experts as "dangerous" as medical texts show amphetamines can cause delirium and hallucinations within 24 hours of taking them. not President Reagan's view

Psychiatry and its multi billion-dollar-a-year pharmaceutical industry promotes drugs as the answer to every difficult situation an individual may encounter. It is a life-threatening hoax.

THE KILLING DOESN'T END WHEN THE WAR DOES

The ramifications of War are wider than the direct killing going on right now. The soldiers who return suffer. The families of those who do not return suffer. The innocent victims of the war suffer and the effects of widespread chemical exposure causes even more suffering.

As with WWII and the Vietnam War, the post war environment provided a thriving business for the "psychiatric and psychological specialists" whose "technology" helped the militarists and politicians decide upon war. Vietnam veterans exposed to the Agent Orange assault were told by these professionals they were not suffering the violent and depressing effects of chemicals but were "mentally ill".

NAZI WAR CONNECTIONS TO CIA/ PSYCHIATRIC MIND CONTROL EXPERIMENTS

After WWII the CIA obtained the services of psychiatrists to research Nazi psychiatric experiments. Some of the Nazi doctors were even taken out of Germany and placed in renowned western universities to continue lecturing and practicing without ever being brought to justice for their heinous crimes. The CIA then employed psychiatrists to carry out mind control experiments using LSD, barbiturates, mind altering drug cocktails and electric shock treatment. They also used "deep sleep treatment" which was imported into Australia by Sydney and Victorian psychiatrists. Mental patients and military personnel were unwittingly used in the CIA experiments.

The experiments were aimed at mind control and understanding the behaviour and actions of the "enemy". Billions of dollars were, and continue to be poured into psychiatry in their spurious attempt to understand man's inhumanity to man.

Despite all these appropriations, psychiatry is no closer to understanding human behaviour and promotes only inhumane, unworkable solutions. Fully expect that it will capitalise on the current conflict demanding more money to waste on destructive experimentation and their inability to predict behaviour.

Unless the resources wasted on psychiatry are rechannelled to provenly-valuable endeavours and the spiritual recognition of man, then War will remain an ever-present threat to the peace of mankind.
