

your eyes blind to the misery

Take a moment to inspect the tags on your shoes and clothes. Where are they from? Vietnam? Fiji? China? Indonesia? The third world and the suffering of its people sometimes seem so far away, almost like a fairy tale. But here on your feet are real shoes stitched in a real factory by a real person with a real name.

Doesn't that seem a little strange? With all the sickness, starvation and homeless, real problems in real countries, why is the third world making you new shoes?
