RELEASED, BUT IS STILL A FASCIST

LONDON.—Mr. V. C. Burgess, Mosleyte fascist internee released by Home Minister Herbert Morrison, has arranged an anti-Semitic window display in his Edgware printing house. Among books in the window are Hitler's Mein Kampf, Why Hitler? (aimed at assisting people to "understand" Hitler), Judaism and Bolshevism, International (Jew-Controlled) Finance and Can We Overdo the War? (by the Duke of Bedford). This released fascist, whom Mr.

Soviet military commentators, forecasting an early end to German fascism, say that the Nazis have received such a mauling on all fronts that Von Rundstedt can only marshal 30 divisions in his vain effort to stop the Western Allies' greatest offensive.

Japan Intensifies Fascist Terrorism

Japanese fascist rulers, fearing the over-whelming reinforcements which will soon be diverted from the European zone to assault the Japanese Archipelago itself, have intensified fascist terrorism against home front discontent. Folice have summary power to shoot any among the bombed-out homeless who protest.

The big Japanese monopolies, through their subsidised "Imperial Rule Assistance Association," are pushing the militarist rulers more into the background, in the hope of winning a compromise peace.

British advances in Burma, the determined slogging by the Australians in the Solomons and New Britain and the new American assaults at Iwo Jims, are giving the ruling Japanese monopoles their answer.

Tribune Marches On

PROGRESSIVE Australians took the first of the bl-weckly Tribunes to heart and home. On Theaday, newsagents were ringing up for more; brand-new readers sent in their congratulations. The first bl-weekly was sold out—we could have sold thousands more had we the resources.

The Australian Communist Party's achievement of a bl-weekly dealt achievement of a bl-weekly dealt their fangs into the Labor Movement. Two Tribunes, plus Progress, each week boild a stronger barricade of truth to halt the monopolist press and radio barons' conscious offensive against intellect, in which weapons range from racial mumbo-jumbe to pin-up girls, from slander and sex-interest to superman and subman comiestips.
